

It was in the night

When we saw the red light

It got bigger every second

The Nazis were teaching us a lesson

I realized the light was fire

Too scared to be tired

I heard the Nazis break the glass from stores

Then they started knocking down doors

They took my child away

I begged them to let her stay

In the street, they beat her

My tears made my eyes blur

I hated the night we were parted

It was after that all of the death started

My child was taken away

I hope she is O.K.
